GRIFFETS.

There was a man in our town Who was not without a wife; For though he had fresh goods to sell He would not advertise.

But when he saw his rival sell More goods than he could he, He stormed about his grocery, As mad as mad could be.

—The veterans of the Grand Army and their friends held a pleasant social reunion and dance at post headquarters on Saturday evening, which was greatly enjoyed by all in attendance.

—Ladies don't forget the special auction sale for the ladies, to-morrow afternoon, opposite the post office. Sale at 2 p. m. This will be a grand chance to purchase Christmas presents.

—We are pleased to note that Mrs. Ira Parry, who has been so seriously ill in this city, has regained sufficient strength as to enable her to be moved to her home in Dexter, this afternoon.

—Miss Kittie Stanton, Miss Annie Moore, Miss Ella Bort, Mr. S. O. Dauchy, Mr. H. H. Hyde and John Konyon, while passing on College hill at Beloit on Friday evening, were severely injured by collision with a passing car.

—The 29 cent dance at the Rifles' armory last night was a most enjoyable affair. A large number were present, and danced to the inspiring strains of the Arion orchestra until midnight. This orchestra is becoming very popular in Janesville and its music is in great demand.

—Sunday evening December 20 will be remembered in the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Brown as the birthday of a little boy, who will hereafter contribute to the care and happiness of the family circle, into which he has come as a welcome intruder. Beloit papers please mention.

—The Congregational church people listened to President A. L. Chapin, D. D. of Beloit college, both morning and evening, yesterday. Dr. Chapin preached two very able sermons, and filled very acceptably the pulpit left vacant by the Rev. A. J. Van Wagner's visit to friends in Iowa.

—On Saturday evening a private party was given at Wheeler's hall, North Main street, in honor of Miss Agnes Cook, of Evansville, who is now in the city, the guest of the Misses Bonder. Some twenty couples of young people were present, and a most pleasant evening was spent, and one which will long be remembered by those present.

The sale will take place at the chapel, opening at two o'clock. There are some pretty and useful articles to be disposed of, at very reasonable rates.

—The Milwaukee who play our polo club in the first game Tuesday night, for the state championship, are not the club who played here a few weeks ago. There are three polo clubs in Milwaukee and "the Milwaukee" are the champions of the city. Last Thursday they defeated the Fond du Lac league club 3 to 0. The game Tuesday night will be a very exciting one as the two clubs are quite evenly matched.

—To-morrow evening we expect to see the largest crowd ever assembled at the Riverside rink, the occasion being the first of the polo league games in this city—the Milwaukee against the Riverside. The Milwaukee team is composed of the first young men of that city, and are said to be capital polo players every one of them. The home club will put forth every effort to lead their opponents and an exciting contest may be expected.

—Mr. Benj. Smith is engaged in delivering the Grand book for which he took subscription in the city during the fall. The book is neat in appearance and will be thoroughly appreciated as the last work of the great man, whose loss the nation so keenly mourned. Mr. Smith may be found at the grocery store of Capt. W. T. Vanilck. Parties who have not already subscribed for the book will do well to do so before Mr. Smith leaves the city.

Miss Lizzie Little has charge of the enterprise in the city and will be pleased to furnish temperance calendars to any who may desire to aid the temperance movement of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The calendar is worth the subscription price.

—Messrs. Goodhue & Birnie, of Springfield, Mass., have just completed a system of water work at Ann Arbor, Mich., and the plant has been accepted by the city. The works are a combination of the reservoir and direct pressure system; 14 miles of main pipes. A test was had on Saturday, Dec. 5th, when five streams with the reservoir pressure, were thrown to an average height of 94 feet, and with the direct pressure the streams were thrown 115 feet high. The cost of the plant is not stated. Messrs. Goodhue & Birnie are the gentlemen who made a favorable proposition for the building of works in this city.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES E. KLENOW.
At four o'clock this morning Mr. Charles E. Klenow quietly closed his eyes in his last long sleep, and his soul departed to find rest in that home not made with hands, beyond the grave. Deceased had suffered for a year or more with asthma, the last three months being confined to his home. He was born in Germany in 1824, came to America in 1838, settling in this city in 1860. He was one of the charter members of the Janesville Concordia society, and retained his membership to the time of his death. Mr. Klenow was a man who made many acquaintances and had friends, all of whom will be deeply saddened at hearing of his demise. He leaves a family consisting of a wife and five children: Wm. E., Martha, Charles E., John and Albert, all residing in this city, who will receive the sympathy of a very large circle of most intimate friends in this dark and sad hour which now surrounds their home.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on East Milwaukee street on Wednesday at 2 p. m., the Rev. John H. Sobler, pastor of the German Lutheran church, conducting the services.

Falling Posts.
MILTON, Wis. Dec. 19, 1883.

GENTLEMEN: The objectionable posts on our square were pulled for the tenth time last Tuesday. The railroad officials came out on a special train in the afternoon, and got out a temporary injunction, which was served by the sheriff last Wednesday. They then rased their posts, which were railroad ties, four feet deep in the ground, yesterday. And a squad of citizens, unassisted by me, repelled and removed them, for the eleventh time.

The public much interested in the subject.

EZRA GOODRICH.

"Age cannot wither it nor custom stale its infinite variety. First is hardly but to an old or pair which cannot be cured by using Salvation Oil.

It is painfully annoying to be disturbed in public assemblies by some one coughing when you know J. B. Ball's Cough Syrup is only 25 cents.

The Recorder's New Dress.
Our democratic neighbors on River street, have donned new apparel and congratulate themselves in very much the same strain of vanity as is usually attributed to the barn yard fowl known as a peacock. The new dress is very pretty, and compares favorably with the same style of type with which the readers of the Gazette have been familiar for many years.

The claim made by our concerted neighbors to the best paper, typographically and otherwise, ever published in Janesville, is about as visionary as the imaginary prosperity which has come to that office as the result of a democratic flop. The democracy of Janesville and Rock county are about as numerous as they were six weeks ago. The new organ has failed to materialize to any alarming extent, by way of making any democratic converts. On the other hand it has succeeded in driving away a good many republican supporters of the paper, who have sought consolation in a more congenial atmosphere. If the statement of the Recorder is true in regard to increased circulation, at least six hundred families in Janesville have assumed the luxury of a daily paper (within the last six weeks. This speaks well for the literary tastes of our people.

Notwithstanding the egotism shown in the Sunday issue, informing the public of the purchase of "new clothes" we congratulate our neighbor on the improved appearance, typographically, of the Recorder. The appearance of the paper is now a credit to any city.

Improved Light.
Among the improvements which are constantly being made in gas light, is the Gregory Incandescent Gas lamp, which gives a light as mellow as a student lamp, and at the same time of unusual brilliancy. The Gazette is under obligations to Superintendent Merrill, of the New Gas Light company, for one of these beautiful lights. The lamp is ornamental and economical as a gas burner, and will be of special benefit as a household light.

IN THE REVIVAL MEETINGS NOW IN PROGRESS AT COURT STREET CHURCH.

Hundred Turned Away Last Evening Unable to Gain Admission.
That the interest in revival work is increasing, is apparent from yesterday's experience, not only in the matter of attendance, but also in the thoughtful serious expression which prevailed throughout the day. The Saturday night meeting was well attended, and some twenty seekers found their way to the altar, and several professed conversion.

Yesterday morning the house was comfortably filled, and Mr. Harrison spoke for forty minutes from the text: "He that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out." The speaker applied the scripture in his own peculiar manner, and many were induced to accept the gracious invitation. The meetings throughout the day were all well attended and marked by an unusual degree of interest. At the evening service the house was densely packed, every foot of available space being occupied, and a great crowd thronging the doors unable to gain admission. Mr. Harrison began in his usual way by a general disquisition upon his text which was found in Gen. 6:8. In all cases of God's judgment it was found that mercy precedes wrath. When the great flood came Noah was sent to warn his countrymen, and give them a chance to escape. Before Christ pronounced the doom of Jerusalem he uttered a touching lament on the fate of his favorite city.

It has always been that way. Jesus is anxious to save and will if he is received. The text of the sermon was found verified in all parts of the world. In lonely countries when the natives are asked their reasons for offering sacrifice, they say, pressing their hearts, "Burden, burden," showing that a sense of dread of some unknown power is over them. If the spirit of God did not strive the unconvinced would have nothing to resist and they would experience no remorse at death, but the spirit does work in many ways and much testimony proves that the unsaved do experience terror and remorse when on the death bed. But if the spirit in striving is not met by one's soul, in time the soul becomes hardened and God's word ceases to have an impression.

This is seen in the text which is "His spirit shall not always strive." Mr. Harrison concluded the sermon by a touching picture of his sister's death which brought tears to the eyes of many in the audience. An invitation was given for all those who desired religion to come forward and soon the altar was thronged with seekers. A number of conversions were made and an unusual amount of good was wrought. During the rest of his stay meetings will be held three times a day, once in the afternoon and twice in the evening and now that the work is well begun it is hoped that many will be brought into the better life.

That the Brothead team which played here Saturday night was a new one was easily seen. The Riverside took the ball in charge from the start and in a little more than six minutes had scored three goals. After that an exhibition game was played which lasted twenty minutes. The Brothead boys make a very good appearance on the floor, their uniforms being much more attractive than those of the Riverside. They lack practice, however, though no more than most of the state clubs during the last season.

Prentice & Evenson will refund the price paid if Acker's Blood Blixir does not relieve any skin or blood disorder. A new, but thoroughly tested discovery.

The Weather.
At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 3 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with southeast wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 38 degrees above zero. Clear with southwest wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 7 and 10 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 34 degrees above zero. ## THE OLD SOLDIER'S DREAM.

The night was dark and dreary, With a cold November blast, And I was tired and weary, With the cares of the day just past.

As I went trudging along, My thoughts went far, far away; I thought of that beautiful sea, Of a land that is faster than day.

I went to a room in my dwelling, And sat down with a sigh, As the wild winds seemed to be telling How the children of men must all die.

I thought of the children that cry For bread in a land full of grain, And I wondered if the bread that died Were sure to all live again.

I soon fell into deep slumber, And my tired spirit soared far away; It traveled miles without number, To this land that is faster than day.

I came to a beautiful lake in this land, And as my tired spirit hovered, An angel came and wrote in my hand, And said: "Thou shalt be a harp-strings' lord."

"Jehovah who rules in the skies, And dwells in the highest and rain, Hath said: 'If a man once dies, He shall surely live again.'"

Then to prove her words to be true, She took me by the hand, And as we wandered through The beauties of this land.

We came to a beautiful mountain All covered with evergreen trees; In the valley beyond was a fountain, That came gushing up into the breeze.

Now in this beautiful valley The day at the foot of the mountain, I saw the souls of those that lay, To drink the water at the fountain.

I cannot tell how many were there, For the number was exceedingly great, But bright were the crowns that they all did wear, Which was given to them at the gate.

Some I saw I did not know, For they died long before my days, But their robes were white as the driven snow, As they sang of God's praise.

Others I saw I knew full well, I had heard them in the battle command; For they were the heroes who fell, That freedom might live in the land.

Now the beautiful angel said, And as he looked on this vast congregation, "Though were the palms that they tread, As they came up through great tribulation."

The spirit of Charles Sumner I saw, Whom I so dearly loved, And he was explaining some points of the law To the soul of old John Brown.

Baker, who fell at Ball's Bluff, And fighting Jo. Hooker was there; Ben Wade, of Ohio, so rough, And little McPherson so fair.

Lincoln, Thad. Stevens and Chase, Randall, Harvey and Carpenter, of our state, Had all been assigned to an important place As soon as they entered the gate.

Now the beautiful angel spoke, And a pleasant smile she gave; "These are the souls that broke The chain that bound the slave."

But there is a soul that was commanded to wait When he gave the guard a broad grin, And he looked the angel that stood at the gate, And came boldly marching in.

He came from some southern state, I am told, And his spirit in battle was great; 'Twas Stonewall Jackson, so bold, That flanked the angel who stood at the gate.

Garfield, Wilson, and Robert E. Lee Were all in the beautiful land, And ten thousand little children I saw Sit laughing as they played in the sand.

And ten thousand others had entered the gate Who should have strayed never did wear; But here their souls are just as great, And the blessings of heaven they share.

Now the bells of heaven began ringing, And those souls took a part in the glees; And I thought of the songs I heard the boys singing As we marched with Sherman down to the sea.

I stepped into a beautiful boat, And I glided down the stream When my tired spirit awoke And I found it all a dream.

Merry Christmas.
"It's Christmas all the year round" with some folks, and this is particularly true of the New York Saving store man. His display of seasonable goods is always choice and calls forth many expressions of delight, but the present holiday display at this popular resort, caps the climax, and is highly artistic. In one of the show windows is arranged a miniature table around which is seated a group of ladies at a tea party, while in the background the attentive domestic patiently awaits orders.

Near the front of the store is the prize doll, attired in elegant costume. [The store throughout presents a holiday appearance and is simply beautiful. A very pleasing background is furnished by an elegant Christmas tree elaborately decorated and sparkling under the brilliant electric light. Every lady in the city should visit the New York Saving Store from a mere sense of curiosity if nothing else. It might be well to take along your pocket book for the display is very tempting.

Young and middle-aged men, suffering from nervous debility and kindred affections, as loss of memory and hypochondria, should enclose 10 cents in stamps for large illustrated treatise suggesting sure means of cure. Address World Dispensary Medical association, Buffalo, N. Y.
